

SEDALIA WEEKLY BAZOO.

VOLUME 14.

SEDALIA, MO.. TUESDAY, MAY 8, 1883.

NUMBER 51.

THE FIRST OF MAY.

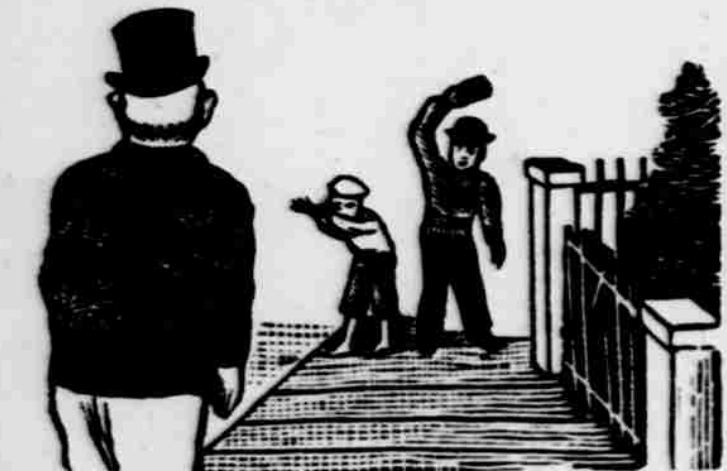

Deacon Dinwiddie's Experience as a Landlord-Sin and Soapbuds.

Deacon Dinwiddie woke up last Tuesday morning in a very bad humor. The way he had been done up last week, and the fact that he had turned his only son from his door—the son who was his main stay in politics—the son who managed to spend most of the interest on his government bonds, had soured the old man to some extent.

He turned over and was preparing for another nap, when lo! there came a great "rapping and tapping" at his chamberdoor. "Deacon! deacon! wake up!" came the voice of the house-keeper in shrill tones. "That Sandytop family that lives in your corner house, are moving; they are just packing the last load, now, and have taken your door screens, and I think they are going to tear down the wood shed and cart it off."

"Flying mackerel!" exclaimed the deacon, jumping out of bed and alighting on a carpet tack, which made him set down and try to get his foot into his mouth.

By the time he had put on his clothes and arrived at the scene of action, the last load was disappearing up the street while two juvenile members of the Sandytop family were plastering the front of the house with mud balls.

"What in the thunder are you up to? you young villains," yelled the elder Dinwiddie, as his gaze wandered first from the boys to the fence from which about a dozen pickets had been broken while moving the bureau.

Young Geo. Sandytop, the eldest of the two, fired a brick through the front window and broke nearly all of the glass in the lower sash, while the younger placed his fingers to his nose and giggled them at the old man as an answer.

"I'll settle this business in blamed short order," sputtered the deacon, his face about the color of Meyer's red store. "Darn yer pesky hides I'll fix ye!" and the old man started off for his cane, which in his hurry he had forgotten, and the cowhide with which John had cowed the editor of the BAZOO.

The old fellow was so excited that when he went through the hall door he failed to notice a pair of soap suds which had been placed there by the old housekeeper who was scrubbing the oil cloth. "Splash!" went his foot plump into it which so rattled him that he tripped, fell and rolled down the front steps, while the pair came bumping onto his head, and covering him with a deluge of dirty water.

For about three minutes the deacon forgot that he was a pillar of the church; forgot his dignity; forgot everything, in fact, but how to swear, and the air was blue for a time with words selected from his prayer-book, with decided variations. And during the midst of this performance who should approach but Mrs. Della Mapes and Mrs. Ella Johnson, who were coming to see the deacon about some funds which he had promised for the benefit of the heathen missions.

"Awful!" said Mr. Mapes. "Horrible!" from Mrs. Johnson, and we will roll down the curtain on the tableau.

BAKER'S BEER.

BOB WHITE.

This is a man and his feet. He wears a pen with considerable grace, but his feet are the largest part of him.

His name is Bob White and he publishes the Mexico Ledger.

Bob is a man of many parts. And in his dealings always square; His heart is size is like his feet, Great big—but sure to get there.

The above represents the editor of the Ledger writing a "toast," which he expects to reply to at the press banquet at Carthage, next Tuesday night on the occasion of the seventeenth annual meeting of the Missouri Press association. Poor man! he has been "in labor" all the past week endeavoring to catch an idea and to reduce it to paper.

He has met with poor success, but hopes to be able to see Adam Rodemire of the Centralia Guard, who will assist him in finishing his "toast," and appearing before the audience of cultured ladies and gentlemen at Carthage in a style akin to that of Webster or Clay.

Bob is a genius. This is news, and is a scoop on the fellow who publishes the nonsensical sheet full of blunders and bad orthography yclept "Battle Axe of Freedom."

Bob was born of poor, but clean, industrious and honest parents. If they had been wealthy they probably would have bestowed more to his feet.

"Tis sad, but true. The eating houses from Carthage to St. Paul and back had better lock their doors, and put up a small-fox flag, for Bob White of the Ledger and O. D. Austin of the Butler Record, are coming hungry as wolves.

Sound the tocsin! There will be a famine after they have passed, and children will perish for the want of nourishment. All true christians should offer up prayers of deliverance to the people of Carthage. They are loyal subjects, and will meet their fate with that true heroism so characteristic of the Carthaginians, but they do not dream of what is in store for them.

These two men are coming with appetites. Bob has not eaten anything for the past thirty days in anticipation of a square meal at Carthage, and Austin is always hungry.

The BAZOO's artist would have been pleased to have illustrated the appetites of both of these pie-biters, but his pencil failed him.

The BAZOO will see these gentlemen later.

A Mouth for Bananas.

JEFFERSON JOTS.

The State Supreme Court Issues an Order of Importance to Litigants.

Special to the BAZOO.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 5, 1883. The secretary of state has issued a certificate of incorporate existence to the Oak Grove bank, of Jefferson county. Capital, stock, $10,000.

The following special order has been made by the supreme court: "The clerk will set 150 cases, beginning with case No 874, as a special docket for Monday, May 7, 1883, and all cases on said special docket, which shall be submitted on briefs on or before said day, or in which the attorneys on both sides shall, on or before said day file a stipulation for oral argument before the commissioners heretofore appointed by this court, shall be referred to said commissioners for disposition under the provisions of an act to regulate practice in the supreme court, and to aid in disposing of cases pending in said court, approved March 22, 1883. And all cases on said special docket not so referred, will be continued until the October term, 1883."

A counter-order has been made, adjourning the United States Supreme court until June, and consequently, no decision in the case of the State vs. The Hannibal & St. Joseph railroad is to be looked for before that time. Until this order was made, the general impression was that the case would be disposed of next Monday.

Speaker Richardson was on a visit at the capital yesterday evening. He is very backward in speaking of his political aspirations.

The Adams Manufacturing company, of St. Louis, filed articles of association, and were issued a certificate thereon. Capital, $50,000.

The Lafayette county judges, who have been confined in jail here for refusing to obey an order of the United States court, were granted, by Judge Krekel, a leave of absence for ten days, in order that they might hold court in their county. Their confinement consists in taking their meals in jail and sleeping there at night.

The governor issued a proclamation, this morning, offering a reward of $100 for the apprehension of Jefferson D. Bunch, who is charged with stabbing and killing Thomas Nash in St. Francois county, on the 25th of last April. Immediately after the killing, Bunch fled the country and has never since been heard from.

Hunting for the Thieves.

St. Louis, May 5.—A dispatch from Ft. Worth says: Major Wasson, army paymaster, who was robbed on the Texas Pacific train, a few nights ago, is there aiding the detectives in ferreting out the robbers. Wasson's valise was found near the railroad track, it was cut open and rifled of its contents, and two tramps were arrested at Cleburne, having in their possession over nine hundred dollars in gold, notes of large denomination, which is regarded as a good clue. Another man, as arrested at Albany, who is believed to be one of the robbers. It is considered almost certain that Wasson was followed by crooks from Galveston, who knew he had the money.

A dispatch from Santa Fe says the recently reported attack by Indians on a pack train, near San Augustin is untrue, and that of the killing of cattle at Alamo Springs was done by smugglers, and not by Indians. The cavalry sent out by Col. Forsyth's report no Indians in that whole region of the country.

Dissolved Their Union.

St. Louis, May 4.—It is stated that the few remaining union men of the force employed at the Vulcan steel works, of South St. Louis, prior to the strike inaugurated there some months ago, have dissolved their union. The action is said to have been unanimous. If it is ratified by the district vice-president, as it must be under the rule of the amalgamated association to be effective, the men will be free to accept work at the Vulcan, which is non-union. The mill matter is expected to be definitely decided in a few days.

Nothing in it.

Washington, May 5.—The Star says: In justice to late Disbursing Clerk Joseph, of the interior department, and to the officers of the Freedman's hospital, it should be stated that the total appropriation for the hospital was not exceeded, as surplus funds under one head was used to meet the deficiency under another, and that is all there is in the stories of the irregularities.

Closing Exercises.

Louisville, Ky., May 5.—The twentieth annual commencement of the Southern Baptist theological seminary was held in this city to-day. Nine gentlemen graduated, representing the states of Virginia, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Missouri, and Georgia. The annual sermon will be delivered at four p. m. to-morrow, by Rev. Samuel Moses, president of the Indiana state university.

Heavy Judgment.

New Orleans, May 5.—Judge Billings, of the United States circuit court, to-day rendered a final decree in the case of Myra Clark versus the City of New Orleans, giving judgment against the defendant for $1,925,067, with five per cent interest till paid, and cost.

"Uncle Tom" Dead.

Dresden, Ont., May 5.—Rev. Josiah Henson, Mrs. Stowe's "Uncle Tom," died to-day. Aged, ninety-four years.

Explosion in a Powder Magazine.

Portsmouth, Eng., May 5.—An explosion occurred in the government powder magazine, situated at Preddy's, in Portsmouth harbor. The building was completely demolished. It is reported that nine persons were killed and a number injured. Later information states that the explosion in the powder magazine of Preddy, was caused by the accidental ignition of some powder during the filling of a quantity of shells. The loss of life happily not so great as at first reported, only two persons being killed outright. Five, however, are so badly injured that they are in a dying condition.

London, May 5.—A dispatch just received from Portsmouth, (2 o'clock p. m.) states that four of the persons injured at the powder explosion have died, making the total number of fatalities six.

Refused Bail.

Boston, May 5.—In the supreme court application was made by the counsel for Charles F. Freeman, who killed his child at Pocasset, April, 1879, while under a religious fanaticism, for the release of Freeman on bail on the ground that he was now a sane man. Chief Justice Morton said the full court did not feel that the time had arrived when, after exposure to the temptation of the world, Freeman might not have a recurrence of religious excitement, and refused to admit him to bail. He stated that if the attorney general, after further examination of the case, should see fit to nolle pros. the indictment, the court would acquiesce. If, however, the case was pressed for trial, a special session would be convened.

The Proposition Agreed To.

Springfield, Mass., May 5.—At an adjourned meeting of the creditors of William Knight & Co., to-day, H. G. Knight agreed to undertake to meet the proposition of the creditors, made last week, to pay twenty-five per cent on the liabilities of the New York firm, sixty per cent on those of the last Hampton corporation, and forty per cent on the personal liabilities under certain stated conditions.

The Lightning Did It.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 5.—A careful investigation shows that the lightning struck the wire of the bell rope at the Stanton air shaft, passing down into the mine and igniting the gas. There was a similar occurrence during the storm last night at the Franklin coal company's slope, demolishing a vast amount of timber work in the pit and doing much damage to workmen. Had the slope been in operation, there would have been a serious loss of life.

Rolling Mill Shut Down.

Reading, Pa., May 5.—The Philadelphia and Reading rolling mill shut down to-day for one week on account of the depression in trade, and lack of orders. The puddlers at the Reading iron works who had asked for an advance in wages, from $3.50 to $3.75 per ton, and were refused, now offered to return to work at the old rate, if paid semi-monthly. The company holds the matter under advisement.

Informers Wanted in Russia.

St. Petersburg, May 5.—It is believed the authorities at Moscow have been invested with power to arrest a number of persons who have been acting suspiciously in that city, and to detain them until the coronation of the czar has taken place. Much ill feeling exists in some of the regiments of the army, owing to the fact that rewards are being offered to men to induce them to denounce any of their comrades who are known to be nihilists.

Shooting Affray.

Little Rock, May 5.—At Wrightsville, Arkansas, to-night, a crowd of negroes refused to leave J. L. Parsons' saloon. His partner, Wm. Graves, and his daughter, M. Lou Parsons, went to his assistance. Graves shot a negro, Wm. Walker, twice in the shoulder. In the melee Mrs. Parsons was wounded, but not seriously. The affair caused great excitement, and for a time mob violence was feared.

Under the Wheels.

St. Paul, May 5.—Leonard Willmot, an insane man of this city, while being conveyed to the asylum, jumped from the train and threw himself under the cars and was cut to pieces.

The Minneapolis strike on the Manitoba road is at an end, and the men are all at work.

Fatally Burned.

Bradford, Pa., May 5.—Six buildings in the business part of Bradford burned this morning. Geo. O'Neill, sleeping in a saloon were the first started, was fatally burned, and died this afternoon.

Found Guilty.

Philadelphia, May 5.—The jury in the case of Ellis H. Phipps, ex-alms-house superintendent, charged with forgery, after being out all night, returned a verdict of guilty this morning.

Base Ball.

Chicago, May 5.—Detroit 3, Chicago 2. New York, May 5.—Providence 3, New York 1.

Horse vs. Bicycle.

Boston, May 5.—Seven thousand people witnessed the close of the horse versus bicycle race. Score, horses 921 miles; bicycle 899 miles.

Strike Ended.

Lynchburg, May 5.—The trimmers and cigar makers' strike has ended. The former accepted the employer's terms.

Kelly's Third Trial.

Dublin, May 5.—Timothy Kelly, charged with participation in the Phoenix park murders, will have a third trial Monday.

—A man, who claimed to be a machinist in the Missouri Pacific shops, reported to Officer Joe Gossage that he had been robbed of $80 in gold, by a couple of acquaintances, last night, but, as he refused to have a warrant issued, no arrests were made.
